COUNTY MEET GREAT SUCCESS

Hondo Easy Winner of Best Class B. School in County.

Hondo and Medina County had one of its biggest days many years last Saturday when the full program of the Medina County Meet was rendered, wherein the schools of the county met and fought for mutual honors for their respective schools.

The program from beginning to end was carried out to the letter and in all parts there was a lively competition among the schools.

In the all-round school championship for class B. schools, Hondo easily won over opponents, getting a score of 157 1-6 points, while Yancey, her next opponent, got 83 1-2; while Devine, third, in the contest, got 79 1-3. In the field and track events, Hondo won 87 1-6, Yancey 53 1-2, Devine 43 1-3. In the Declamations and Debates, Hondo won 50, Yancey 13, and Devine 13. In the Tennis, Hondo won 10 points, Yancey 13, and Devine 13. In the Baseball, Hondo won 10 points, with nothing for the other schools.

The Rural Schools the Saco school led all other schools in her class, winning the all-round championship in the Rural school class. A prize is given to this school for the Debate, the subject of which was "Resolved, that the movement for an Open Shop in Texas subserves the best interests of the State and is supported by public opinion." The affirmative was represented by Loraine Heath and Miss Evelyn Wilson, Hondo girls, while the negative was represented by Misses Heath and Dewald of Devine. The teams did exceedingly well, but the force, eloquence and oratory of Misses Heath and Wilson gave them the decision of the judges. These two young ladies will represent Hondo in the District Meet at Uvalde.

In the Declamations, the first place in the Senior boys was won by George Windrow of Hondo; in the Senior girls by Loraine Heath of Hondo; in the Junior boys by Manford Burgin of Yancey; in the Junior girls by Louise Morris of Devine; in the Rural Junior girls by Agnes Rothe; and in the Rural Senior boys, by Adam Weyand.

In the field and track, Milton Batot of Hondo won by default the 120 and 220 low hurdles; the 100-yard Senior dash by Oscar Filleman of Hondo; the 100-yard Junior dash by Crane of Yancey; in the 880-yard dash, Senior, by H. Windrow of Hondo; in the 50-yard dash, Junior, by Crane of Yancey; in the 440 yard dash, by F. Burgin of Yancey; in the 1-mile run by F. Burgin of Yancey; in the 220-yard dash by T. Windrow of Hondo; in the girl's 30-yard dash, Seniors, by E. Hätzler of Hondo; in the girl's 30-yard dash, Juniors, by M. Stroud of Devine.

In the pole vault, by Bailey of Devine; in the running broad jump, by T. Windrow of Hondo; in the running high jump by F. Burgin of Yancey; in the 12-lb. shot put, by Lindsey of Devine; in the discus throw, by Hardt of Yancey.

In the baseball game Hondo won by a score of 14-2, the game being umpired by Thompson of A. & M. College and Fly of Wesley College.

The best all-round Senior boy championship was tied, both Tony Windrow of Hondo, and Fred Burgin of Yancey getting 16 points each. A trophy cup will be given to each of these boys.

Several events were not contested, Devine winning the boy's debate by default, while Hondo won the girl's basketball and several track events in the same manner.

Saathoff-Saathoff.

Wednesday of last week, March, 30, 1921, the wedding of Mr. Hugo A. Saathoff and Miss Christine L. Saathoff was solemnized at the Hondo Lutheran Church, Rev. Falkenberg performing the ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends of the young couple. The groom, a respected young farmer of New Fountain, is a son of the late Folkert Saathoff, and the pretty bride is a daughter of Ehme Saathoff.

The happy couple repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where a large crowd of friends rendered them a surprise party in the evening, wishing the couple good luck in their married life. They will make their home at Sturm Hill.

Mrs. Theodore Bomba.

Mrs. Theodore Bomba died very suddenly at the home of one of her daughters, near Sinton, last Saturday evening, April 2, her death apparently being attributable to heart failure.

Deceased came to this county some fourteen years ago, but we are not advised as to where she had previously made her home. With her husband she made her home on the farm, near Yancey, up to a few months ago, when the old couple moved to Hondo, the purpose of the move being to afford her the privilege of regular attendance on the service of her Church—the Catholic—to which she was devoutly attached. Mr. Bomba continued the conduct of his farm, coming to Hondo at the week-end to spend the Sabbath with his wife.

Deceased had lived beyond the average life allotted to human beings, being in the 73rd year of her life when she died. She lived very quietly while a resident of Hondo and made but few acquaintances among our people but those who met her were favorably impressed with the nobility of her character.

To the bereaved husband who was so suddenly deprived of the consort who so long has traveled down life's pathway by his side, and to the stricken children. The Anvil Herald extends condolence in this their hour of great sorrow.

The Rain.

Just about when everyone had begun to think the threatening weather of the past several days was to pass without the much desired rain, Old Jupiter Pluvius got busy about 9:00 o'clock Thursday morning. Between that hour and 10:00 o'clock rain came down in sheets and soon the streets were a veritable sea of water. The rain continued intermittently until about 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon, by which time the total precipitation approximated 2.55 inches—the heaviest rain thus far this year. As far as we have been able to learn the rain was general throughout the county, and all the streams were flooded.

A very vivid electric storm accompanied the rain, the lightning at times being quite dangerous, but the only loss reported from this source was the killing of two fine hogs, the property of O. H. Miller, here in town. One of the hogs killed was his prized registered brood sow; the other hog killed was of less value.

As the result of the great amount of water on the earth following the great down-pour of rain Mrs. M. A. Chancey is grieving over the drowning of some thirty-odd pure bred Plymouth Rock chicks that were approaching the fryer age.

This rain solves the stockwater problem for sometime to come, assures an oats crop, barring misfortune, will carry corn a long way toward maturity and provide pasturage for many months to come. This part of Texas never looked more prosperous than at this time, and it seems as though the pessimists will have to retire from the stage for awhile.

Ralph Windrow on Honor Roll.

Austin, Texas, April—On the Engineering Honor Roll just issued by T. U. Taylor, dean of the College of Engineering at the University of Texas, appears the names of about eighty students of that department whose scholastic records during the winter term just concluded entitle them to honorable mention. In the compilation of the honor roll, account is taken, according to Dean Taylor, of the number of courses taken by the student, as well as of the grades made.

R. S. Windrow of Hondo is given high rank on this honor list, being named as one of the six students constituting the highest one per cent.

Captain Joe Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Rogers a few days ago received a telegram from their son, Joe, now stationed at Monterey, California, advising them that he had been promoted to the rank of Captain in the army. Captain Rogers is a native of Medina county and his rapid rise in the army is very gratifying to his old-home friends. Captain Rogers is quite a young man to have reached the rank of Captain, and the prospects are that before he reaches the retirement age Medina county will have the honor of furnishing a General to the United States army.

REINDEER TO BE CONSERVED

When Alaska becomes so cold that an ordinary Jersey cow would freeze solid without a struggle, the reindeer blows a cloud of steam over his shoulder and wonders when there'll be an end to the muggy weather. Nor is the reindeer dependent upon corn-billed silos and cotton-seed meal for his winter ration. He asks only a chance to get out on the frosty barren, where he can scrape the snow from the frozen moss, and he'll obtain his own ration for the long eight months of cold weather. These are the attributes which make the reindeer the domestic animal of the natives of Alaska, to whom some form of animal industry is essential.

Realizing the economic importance of this unique animal, the bureau of biological survey, United States Department of Agriculture, has established an experimental station at Unalakleet, Alaska. The new station has a grazing expert and a veterinarian in its personnel and it is supplied with a well-equipped laboratory. Its primary purpose is to serve the reindeer industry by assisting the owners to rid their herds of parasitic pests which have inflicted considerable damage heretofore, and to obtain better utilization of the pasture by regulating the grazing lands. Crowding the herds into limited areas has encouraged the development of parasites and has lessened the reindeer's food supply. Reports received by the department indicate that the new station is already correcting these troubles. It is expected that a bulletin on the reindeer industry will be issued in a few months.

CONFIRMED TESTIMONY.

The Kind Hondo Readers Cannot Doubt.

Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test.

The test of time—the hardest test of all.

Thousands gratefully testify. To quick relief—to lasting results.

Hondo readers can no longer doubt the evidence.

It's convincing testimony—twice-told and well confirmed.

Hondo readers should profit by these experiences.

Thos. McCall, carpenter, Hondo, says: "I came down with an attack of kidney trouble. I had such a severe pain that I could hardly stoop over or lift anything. My back pained all the time and made it difficult for me to do my work. I had heard Doan's Kidney Pills highly spoken of so I bought some at Windrow's Drug Store. Doan's helped me right away and two boxes removed the trouble."

Mr. McCall gave the above statement May 29, 1915, and on May 5, 1919, he added: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills a few times for a slight backache since they cured me four years ago. I think just as much of Doan's as ever."

BAPTISTS REPORT GAIN IN NUMBERS

IN LAST 14 YEARS THEY HAVE ADDED OVER MILLION MEMBERS IN SOUTH.

WILL MEET IN CHATTANOOGA

Many Matters Related to Future Work Will Come Up for Consideration at the Annual Convention May 12 to 18.

DR. E. Y. MULLINS
President Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Who is Touring South.

Following the close of the second year of the Baptist 75 Million Campaign April 30, several thousand messengers from the local churches are expected to assemble at Chattanooga, Tenn., for the seventy-sixth annual session of the Southern Baptist Convention. The Convention met in Chattanooga last in May, 1906, and during the interim there has been a marked growth in every department of the Convention's activities and in the numbers and work of the local churches as well. The total number of Baptists reported to the Convention in 1906 was 1,855,734, while last May, fourteen years later, when the body met in Washington, the total membership of the local churches as reported was 2,961,348, or a gain of 1,105,614. The returns for this year are not yet available, but inasmuch as it is known there were practically 175,000 additions to the local churches last year by baptism alone, there is every reason to believe the showing for 1921 will be even larger.

At the same time there has been a marked increase in the membership of the churches, there has been a distinct advance in all departments of local and denominational work. It is set out. The total number of local churches has grown from 20,129 in 1906 to 25,303 in 1920; the total number of Sunday Schools from 11,332 to 17,686; and the number of Sunday School pupils from 857,244 to 1,835,936, an increase of more than 100 per cent. The value of local church property has mounted from $4,501,122 in 1906 to $74,273,728 in 1920, an increase of more than 1600 per cent, while contributions to missions and benevolences in 1906 were $1,501,369.67, as compared to $7,331,266.55 in 1920, an advance of practically 500 per cent. Fourteen years ago the contributions to all purposes in a year were $5,941,283.44, as against $21,327,446.67 for 1920.

Next Meeting Important.

The approaching session of the Convention is regarded as vitally important to the future of the denomination's work. It is hoped that by the Convention two-fifths of all subscriptions to the 75 Million Campaign will have been paid in cash and that the program for the completion of the remainder of the campaign task can be formulated at this time. Dr. J. B. Gambrell, president of the Convention, and Dr. E. Y. Mullins, who recently completed a tour of Europe, where they carried fraternal greetings to the Baptists of that continent, will give their impressions of Baptist opportunity in that country, while Dr. George W. Truett and Dr. J. F. Love, who represented the Foreign Mission Board at the London Conference last summer when the mission fields of Europe were considered, will tell of the new territory of Spain, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Roumania and Southern Russia, which Southern Baptists are asked to occupy. This territory is as large as the Southern States and has a population of 123,000,000.

All the boards of the Convention will report the largest year's accomplishments in their history, the Home Mission Board being scheduled to report the completion of its million dollar loan fund for church building, in addition to the adding of a thousand churches during the year with gifts and loans for the erection of new houses of worship. The Sunday School Board will report more than $1,000,000 in sales for the year and with collections as well as sales better than at any previous time in its history.

Fletcherized Farm Facts

BY FLETCHER DAVIS

The grain sorghums have grown rapidly in favor during the last few years over much of the state, and in the drier sections are largely taking the place of corn both as a feed crop and a commercial crop. The crop increased from 2,000,000 acres in 1903 to 5,404,000 in 1920 in the United States. The crop in Texas in 1920 was 1,906,000 acres with a yield of 60,992,000 bushels, valued at $73,800,000. The average yields have run from about 12.1 bushels per acre in 1918 to 26.6 in 1920 over the United States. It has run somewhat higher than this in Texas, and not infrequently as high as 75 bushels have been produced on some acres.

The plant produces both grain and forage for live stock, and the grain can be ground into a very wholesome meal and as such can be used very satisfactorily as a human food. Cereal experts say the sorghum grains make excellent feed for all classes of farm animals, including poultry. It is used as a substitute for corn in the ration and has a chemical composition very similar to that of corn; that is, they are rich in carbohydrates or fat formers and low in protein or muscle builders. It is therefore best fed in connection with some hay or food stuff rich in protein. It is best to grind the grain before feeding for all stock except poultry. The starch is somewhat less digestible than is corn starch, but, in general, the grain has a feeding value of 90 per cent or more of that of corn.

In a course of feeding experiments held recently at the state experiment station at Spur, it was found that the grain sorghums were equal in value to corn in the feeding of cattle and lambs, and they may, in fact, be even somewhat more valuable. Steers fed for 120 days on cottonseed meal and alfalfa and sorghum hay in equal amounts, in conjunction with milo, feterita and corn, on a pound for pound basis, showed daily gains as follows: On ground ear corn, 1.96 pounds per steer at a cost of 7.93 cents per pound; on milo heads, 1.947 pounds at a cost 7.5 cents per pound; and on feterita heads, 2.02 pounds at a cost of 7.20 cents per pound. The daily average gain of the lambs, over a 90 day feeding period, was three-tenths of a pound per day. The largest gain at the smallest cost was made by cottonseed and milo, rather than cottonseed meal. The cost per pound of gain with this ration was 8.3 cents, while the most expensive gain was made in the feeding of shelled corn at a cost of 12.8 cents per pound of gain. The feeding value of these grains is established beyond any question, and they may be regarded henceforth as one of our staple crops.

The more important grain sorghums are included in two groups of varieties, the kafir group and the milo-durra group. Dwarf and early maturing varieties in both groups are best for the higher and drier districts. The milos and feterita ripen in from ninety to 110 days, which adapts them to short seasons, high elevations, and low rainfall. The kafirs are not so early and require more moisture. They do best when the rainfall is about twenty five inches and the elevation ranges up to about 2,000 or 2,500 feet. Where the rainfall is abundant it is safer to depend upon corn, as the sorghum midge is liable to do much damage to the grain under humid conditions.

"Any soil that will grow corn will grow sorghums, kafir, milo and feterita, and soils on which corn will languish under ordinary conditions will produce each abundantly under the same conditions," to quote from Bulletin No. 42 of the Texas State Department of Agriculture. "The further advantage is that, on any class of soil, the sorghums will stand up against drought while corn will wither in the row. It has been demonstrated, to by experiments carried out in Texas through a series of years, that, by reason of their drought-resisting qualities, and ability to make a second crop, the feeding value of an acre of the grain sorghums is about twice that of an acre of corn."

"The different varieties require about the same cultural treatment except where a change is made necessary by the difference in seasonal or soil conditions. Perfect seed bed preparation is requisite in all cases. Plowing should be deep whether done in the fall or spring, though fall plowing, because of the greater winter precipitation, is known to be preferable. The ground should be well harrowed or disced before planting. Listing is preferable to plowing on all soils subject to high winds, as it not only prevents the shifting of the soil, but also protects the young plants from moving sands or soil particles."

Swat the Fly.

DR. M. M. CARRICK.

A mild and gentle winter and a warm and early spring. Means the coming of the enemy whose danger we would sing: It's that disconcerting animal, that everlasting fly— We must swat the plague gone creature, or lots of us may die.

If you want to rid your household of the death befriending pest, Clean up all his breeding places, leave no place for him to nest; For the filthiest of creatures is the filthy breeding fly, And we've got to swat the creature, or lots of us will die.

If you've got a dirty stable, buy yourself chloride of lime, Sprinkle it around the premises, be sure to start in time; Keep manure in covered boxes, and remove it from the fly, For we've got to swat the creature, or lots of us may die.

Take a peep around your kitchen — is your garbage covered up? Open pails are breeding places; furnish meals for him to sup; You can keep the dirty enemy away if you'll but try, For we've got to swat that creature, or some of us may die.

After taking these precautions, one last word we have to say, Arm your family with a swatter, swat the creature all the day; Stalk him up and down the country, this death-delivering fly, For we've got to swat the creature, or lots of us may die!

CHASE the old cans and other rubbish to the dump ground.

LIME the damp, unsanitary spots about the premises.

EVERY mosquito hatchery or fly incubator should be filled up.

ALL filth of whatever nature should be destroyed and the premises made sanitary.

NOW is the time to act—before disease and death invade your tranquil domicile.

UPON hearty, wholesome co-operation of all

PEOPLE depends its success!

AFTER the Chamber of Commerce has sited out the meritorious from the fraudulent calls for charity and seen to it that the donations of the charitable are bestowed only upon the needy and deserving, if it wants to render further valuable service to an over-worked and weary public it may, if it can, call a halt in the tagging nuisance. Among the various and sundry species of grafting that was a part of the heritage of evils growing out of the war few have been more systematically or disgustingly overworked. All any grafter, who wants money for his scheme, has to do is to proclaim it in the name of charity and he can find good-intentioned but misguided women who will forget that womanhood's crowning glory and stand on the sidewalks and annoy passers-by with importunities to buy tags. We do not know to what extent readers of this paper have been annoyed in this way, and presume that, like the editor, you "kick in" whenever you have the price and try to forget it as soon as you can. But we have seen people openly insulted on the streets of our capital city by these overzealous taggers, and, aside from the questionable merit of some of the causes to be served, it is getting to be a nuisance that might well be abated in some places at least. What say you, gentlemen of the Hondo Chamber of Commerce?

AT a conference held at Dallas the last days of March between representatives of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Southwestern Railway Lines, the growers and shippers of perishable products in Texas, and members of the Texas Railroad Commission, much evidence was deduced showing that present freight rates are excessive, in many instances prohibitive, and that much produce in Texas is being permitted to rot in the fields because it can only be shipped to market at a loss. It was urged from the shipper's standpoint that a reduction in the prevailing freight rate would stimulate shipments and that the increased tonnage would more than compensate the roads for their losses from lowered rates. At the same time it would enable the growers to come out of the present crisis with less loss and give a new lease of life to the trucking industry which is now threatened with extinction. To this fervent plea the reply was a flat denial. In denying the request, the carriers' representatives expressed disappointment for their inability to lower the rates on perishables, and explained that the roads themselves were in such condition that they were not earning operating expenses, and declared that any rate reduction would further reduce their revenue. The evidence recorded at this conference will be laid before the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, but the applicants for the rate reduction were told that no immediate assistance might be expected by Texas producers, for before the Commission will take any definite and final action it will make the case a general one and hear witnesses from other fruit and vegetable shipping states. In the meantime, a heretofore profitable and growing Texas industry—the production of early truck—is being destroyed by the rapacious greed of corporate enterprizes to which the commonwealth of Texas has donated an empire in public lands that they might develop the country. Evidently the roads figure that our modern civilization is too advanced and too complex to go back to ox-cart transportation, and will stand for whatever tax for their service avarice may choose to impose. May be society will; but on the other hand, if the managements of the roads can not operate them on a sound, economic basis, where service is commensurate with the toll exacted, society—which made it possible for the roads to exist—may devise means of operating them as well. A re-adjustment of costs of service to the value of that service must be devised or the service must cease. Society can not well dispense with the service. Hence if the management of the roads can not solve the problem of re-adjustment, society will.

IS YOUR HEALTH GRADUALLY SLIPPING

Interesting Experience of a Texas Lady Who Declares That Women Knew About Cardui They Would Be Spared Much Sickness and Worry.

Navasota, Texas.—Mrs. W. M. Peden, of this place, relates the following interesting account of how she recovered her strength, having realized that she was actually losing her health:

"Health is the greatest thing in the world, and when you feel that gradually slipping away from you, you certainly sit up and take notice. That is what I did some time ago when I found myself in a very nervous, run-down condition of health. I was so tired and felt so lifeless I could hardly go at all.

"I was just no account for work. I would get a bucket of water and would feel so weak I would have to set it down before I felt like I could lift it to the shelf. In this condition, of course, to do even my housework was a task almost impossible to accomplish.

"I was . . . nervous and easily upset.

I couldn't rest well at night and was just lifeless.

"I heard of Cardui and after reading I decided I had some female trouble was pulling me down. I sent for it and began it . . .

"In a very short while after I began Cardui Home Treatment I saw improvement and it wasn't long until all right—good appetite, sleep and much stronger so that I easily housework.

"Later I took a bottle of Cardui Tonic. I can recommend Cardui to do so, for if more women knew would save a great deal of sickness."

The enthusiastic praise of other women who have found helpful should convince you of the worth trying. All druggists sell.

W. M. Hancock.

W. M. Hancock was born near Corinth, Miss., February 21, 1861, and died at his home in San Antonio, Texas, March 19, 1921. The body was brought to Luling Monday, March 21, and after religious services conducted in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilson by Rev. S. B. Beall, pastor of the Methodist Church of Lockhart, the remains were laid to rest in the City Cemetery.

The active pall bearers were Albert Taylor, Sheriff Ellison, W. O. Slater, Joseph Wilson, Joe Wright, J. E. Leary. Honorary pall bearers were: A. J. McKean Sr., Prairie Lea, Fisher King, Hondo; Frank Davis, Thomas Wilson, Sr., T. T. Brown, F. E. Johnson, J. M. Richburg, W. C. Sewell, W. R. Hyman, W. L. Monroe, Luling; Fritz Frerichs of Hondo.

Deceased came to Texas with his parents when he was about seven years old, and they located first in Falls County. On December 24, 1892, he was married to Mrs. Ellen Honegger in Hondo. Three daughters and one son were born to them. The daughters are: Mrs. H. B. Jurney of San Antonio, Mrs. E. H. Frerichs of Hondo and Mrs. Ernest Wilson of Luling. The son is Wheeler Hancock of San Antonio, and also a stepson, I. C. Honegger of San Antonio. He has two sisters, Mrs. Emma Morris of Little Rock, Ark., and Miss Sallie Hancock of Hondo. There are two nieces, Mrs. Dollie Beal of San Antonio and Mrs. Lacy McCall of College Station. All these, with his faithful wife, Mrs. Ellen Hancock, and a host of friends are left on this side of the grave to mourn his sudden death.

Mr. Hancock visited his daughter, Mrs. Ernest Wilson, last week and returned home Thursday, and Saturday was in his yard when he suddenly fell to the ground dead, of heart failure.

Brother Hancock was converted sixteen years ago in Hondo under the ministry of Rev. S. B. Beall. He lived the good life as best he could, and as all of us should. Rev. Beall, at the funeral, gave an interesting account of his conversion into the active Christian life and experience. He was a father devoted to his wife and children, and it is said that he could almost recall by memory the days and nights he had been absent from home during the thirty years of his married life. To know him was to be his friend. He loved the right and despised the wrong. Everyone who loves righteousness was his friend. Truly another good man has been called away by the force of life's conditions, but our Heavenly Father has taken care of the result, and received the weary soul into His holy presence. Let the sorrowing wife and relatives be brave in heart, maintain a Christly faith in Him, who has promised, then when life's day is done there will be no clouds at the setting, and when the great sunrise of the eternal day of rewards and continued joy shall come there will be a glad family reunion in the brightness of its light, and the fellowship, mutual love and kindred ties begun on earth shall spring up anew, grow on through a day whose sun never goes down.

"Gone to begin a new and happier story. How I shall greet thee on that day of days."

N. W. CARTER,
Pastor Methodist Church.

Out of town friends and relative and friends of W. M. Hancock, who were here to attend his funeral Monday were: Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Henley, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Wanshaff, Mrs. P. G. Simpson, Mrs. Fred Wilson, Mrs. Don Gilland and son, Mrs. Dollie Beal, all of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Parsons, Mr. Fred Neuman, Hondo; Mrs. Grover Frix, Tampico, Mexico; Mrs. Wm. Taylor and Mr. Joe Taylor, Harwood; Sheriff W. M. Ellison, Mrs. J. M. Sears, Mrs. E. U. Conlev and Rev. M. S. Beall, Lockhart.—Luling News.

PLACED FREEDOM ABOVE ALL

An interesting presentation of a copy of an historic letter from the committee of the Association of New York to the lord mayor and corporation of the city of London, dated May 5, 1775, was made by Alderman Sir John Baddeley to the American ambassador during his recent visit to the Old Bailey. The facsimile of the letter was prepared under the direction of the library committee of the corporation. It was an appeal to the city of London on the ground of "the warm attachment in the capital of the empire to the cause of justice and liberty." The signatories affirmed their loyalty to the king, but said, having been born to the bright inheritance of English freedom, they were "resolutely determined to defend it with their blood and to transfer it uncontaminated to their posterity." One of the signatories to the letter was Isaac Roosevelt, a direct ancestor of the former President Roosevelt.

ADVERTISING IN OLDEN DAYS

Advertising was a fine art in Philadelphia when Dock street was a canal. The proof that the merchants and business men of those days were cognizant of the value of printer's ink is a large collection of billheads, cards, newspapers and other advertising media that has just been purchased by the Pennsylvania museum for display in Memorial hall.

In those days every business man of note used the columns of the newspapers. The front pages of the dailies of the time were devoted largely to advertising matter.

Virtually all of the business men also used elaborately decorated billheads, generally copper plate engravings. The custom was copied from England, although the Philadelphia printers often struck an original style.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

MUSCOGEE WOMAN TELLS OF CHANGE.

Wm. Lowe Gains Twenty-Five Pounds by Taking Tanlac—Health Perfect Now.

"I have gained twenty-five pounds by taking Tanlac and I just can't tell how happy I am to get my health back," declared Mrs. Mary E. Lowe, 400 N. Cherokee St., Muskogee, Okla.

"Three years ago while we were living in Rosedale, Kansas, I broke down completely and had to give up my position. My nerves just seemed to collapse, and I became so weak and run-down I could hardly get around. My liver became sluggish and I lost my appetite and didn't seem to want to eat a thing. My stomach was badly disordered and at times I felt almost deathly sick. I slept but little and lost weight and went from bad to worse until I was alarmed over my condition.

"But Tanlac proved to be just the thing I had been needing, and I certainly am glad I took my friend's advice and tried it. Five bottles have restored my health just perfectly. I have been built up wonderfully and feel so well and strong I never will be able to praise Tanlac enough. It is the best medicine in the world and I am all the time recommending it to some of my friends."

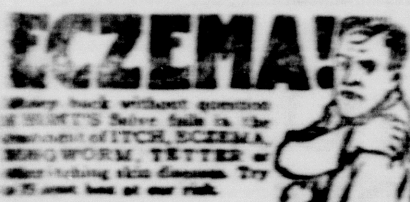

Tanlac is sold in Hondo by W. H. Winrow; in Castroville by Joseph Leonard & Co.; and in Dunlap by Louis A. Baby, and by all leading druggists.

FELT SOMETHING WAS WRONG

Youngster's Experience Made Him Doubt Whether His Prayers Were Really Acceptable.

In the smoking room of La France, on a cool, rough, windy day, George Gould said:

"These winter passages are unpleasant, but they're never dangerous. One bleak December day I was sitting, wrapped up in furs and rugs, in a sheltered corner of the promenade deck of a Commander. The seas were mountainous high. The good old boat seemed to stand on her head one minute, and the next she reared right up on her hind legs.

"A tiny tot of a boy made his way cautiously to the young and pretty matron seated next me. He staid himself against her deck chair and said:

"Mamma, is it wrong to pray that we get home safe?"

"Of course not, darling."

"Well," he went on, "I've been kneeling on a locker trying to pray that we arrive safe in port, and each time I begin the ship heaves up and throws me on the deck."

EVERYTHING WAS ALL RIGHT

Judge Couldn't Be Spoiling the Water (When He Didn't Use Any Soap in the Bath.

A serious inconvenience is caused in Australia by the lack of spring water. The trouble is partly overcome by the use of huge tin tanks in which the rain is caught.

Naturally, toward the breaking up of the dry season, water becomes very precious.

A judge, on circuit, arriving at a bush shanty, asked for a bath. Such a luxury was naturally refused, as there was only a little water left at the bottom of the tank reserved for drinking purposes, says the author of "Quaint Acquaintances."

When dinner was ready, as the judge could not be found, the landlord went to call him; whereupon a muffled voice issued from the tank, where the judge was bathing!

The landlord, justly furious, roundly abused his guest.

"Do not excite yourself," the latter observed, casually. "I am not spoiling the water, for I am not using any soap."

Restrained Applause.

A noted humorous lecturer, who was invited to deliver an address to an audience of convicts in a western penitentiary, noticed that the auditors laughed heartily, but did not applaud.

After the lecture the warden of the institution ventured an apology.

"They didn't seem very appreciative, did they?" he asked.

"I thought they seemed to enjoy it very much," the lecturer replied.

"But they might have clapped a little," the warden remarked, "instead of just sitting there with their hands folded."

"Well, well," the lecturer laughed. "I noticed that they sat with their hands folded, but I thought they were all mannered. And I still think they were."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Would Take a Chance.

The school teacher was explaining the meaning of "B. C." and "A. D." and to see if his lesson had got home he asked the boys what they would do if they found an old Roman coin stamped with the year B. C. 68.

"Ignore it as a forgery," said one boy, whose experience as a stamp collector had sharpened his wits.

"Very good," said the master. "Obviously pre-Christ mints would know nothing of Christ."

"I'd pick it up, though," said a black-haired boy with a prominent nose; "it might fit a slot machine."

The Supreme Test.

Deacon Gildrow says that if a man loves a woman well enough to cheerfully write a check in payment for her new fall suit, though he knows it means that he will have to make his old overcoat do another winter, it is safe to marry her.

And Mrs. Deacon Gildrow says that if you love a man well enough to think you would like to see the floor of the closet littered with his old shoes it will be perfectly safe to marry him.—Houston Press.

BETTER WRITER THAN FARMER

James Fenimore Cooper Evidently Not Cut Out by Nature to Successfully Till the Soil.

Along in the '40s James Fenimore Cooper lived at Osego hall, Cooperstown, N. Y., where were born some of the best tales, and where were obvious some of his most marked defects as a farmer. Nothing daunted that the broad fields of his home would prove richly productive if cultivated, Cooper frequently went to New York city to buy vegetables and other table necessities.

From an article published contemporaneously with Cooper in 1852 and later incorporated in book form under the title "Great American Writers in Their Homes," the following appears:

"Cooper was swimming along Broadway with his coat open and a great string of onions in his hand. He had nearly passed without recognizing him, when, seeing several people turn to look at him and then speak to one another as if there was some one worth observing, we turned, too, and behold it was Cooper.

"I have turned farmer," said he, after the first greetings, and raising his bunch of onions, but am obliged to come to town now and then, as you see."

TRAILS ABOUND IN ROMANCE

Nothing is more romantic than the trail, remarks a writer in the Los Angeles Times. It is the artery of trade and life itself. On land it moves about the bases of the mountains, out of the lowlands, winding through the chaparral, along the easy grades of the canyons, never forcing its way, but definitely avoiding the slippery rock face and the poison oak; upward into the fresh air that breathes through the pass; on, through the pass and into the unknown beyond, into the valley of heart's desire it carries the laden mule and the traveler with his pack.

Across the great deserts the trail is a caravan route, seeking the shades of cliff and avoiding the shifting dunes; stretching unerringly toward the next water hole. It is the written testimonial of the trials and triumphs of the men who have gone before. It is the only pathway of the devout pilgrim, as of the worldly Bedouin. Every habitation of man that has ever dominated one of these great trails has made history and has been in its day a treasure house.

Had Use for the Umbrella.

Ma, with a stern look on her face and a cane in her hand, was waiting for Willie.

Ten o'clock struck, then 10:30, even 11, but no Willie came. Ma dozed in jerks and starts.

At last Willie came up the garden path, took off his shoes and softly opened the door.

Taking an umbrella from the hall stand, he fled up the stairs. But Ma heard, and came after him.

As she arrived Willie scrambled quickly between the sheets and opened the umbrella.

"William," Ma said, "what are you doing? Why have you brought that umbrella up to bed with you?"

"Ma," he said, "I thought there was going to be a storm."

The Leather Profiteer.

At the Players' club in Gramercy park they were swapping profiteer stories. Butler Glanier, a critic and collector, said:

"I recently helped a leather profiteer—call him Peter Sweeney Johnson—to choose a library for his new Fifth avenue house.

"Among our lucky finds was a famous old English dictionary. The book was in bad condition, so we sent it off to be rebound.

"Well, when it came back, gorgeously done in green morocco and gold, the leather profiteer flew into a rage. He pointed to the title 'Johnson's Dictionary' on the back, and yelled:

"Why didn't they use the full name—Peter Sweeney Johnson's Dictionary?"—New York Times.

Compliment Acknowledged.

"What are your views on the League of Nations?" asked the interviewer.

"I thank you for the compliment from the bottom of my heart," said Senator Sorrow.

"What compliment?"

"That implied by your question. There cannot possibly be anything new remaining to be said on the subject. Your inquiry can have no reasonable basis except a desire to listen further to my own particular style of oratorical fluency."

Fifty-Fifty.

Ward's latest collection in the dog line was a young puppy which his father compelled him to put in the barn for the night.

It waited the whole night through and next morning Ward's father said indignantly: "Ward, you get rid of that pup. It howled all night and I did not get a bit of sleep."

With eyes full of indignation the little boy replied: "Well, papa, you got as much sleep as the pup did."

That Embarrassing Moment.

When you have forgotten whether the new baby is a boy or girl.

"Well, well, but he is a fine chap, isn't she? Do her teeth bother him much? I hope he gets through the winter without getting sick. She looks like you, doesn't he? Everybody says it does."

READY FOR THAT PROSPERITY

Mrs. — Was in Something of a Hurry to See Husband Make Good His Promises.

Now, Mr. M— is a strong Republican, and Mrs. M— just as strong a Democrat. Before the election each tried to influence the other. Mr. M— talked of Republican prosperity and Mrs. M— of Democratic peace.

Eagerly on election day they both watched the election reports. And as one after the other came in Mrs. M— was visibly disappointed. But she said nothing, and went quietly to bed.

The next morning she was up early, cheerful, smiling and dressed in her Sunday best. Mr. M— was plainly surprised. "Why, mother, all dolled up," he exclaimed. "What does this mean?"

"Oh, nothing," was her calm reply, "except that I'm getting ready to enjoy Republican prosperity with my husband."—Indianapolis News.

An Advantage for All.

This notice was posted on the schoolhouse door when the pupils arrived. "This school will be closed today, election day, so that the new citizens will have a chance to vote."

"New citizens?" wondered a sixth grader. "I don't get that."

"Why the women teachers," scornfully explained a girl, standing near. "They get to vote this year."

"Oh," the little fellow stood there a minute and then a triumphant light came into his eyes. "They'll close it every election day," he drawled and then his voice arose to a yell: "Hurrah for woman suffrage! Hurrah! Hurrah!"

A National Fault.

"Extravagance," said Senator Cummins at a dinner, "is at the root of most of our ills. We Americans are the most extravagant people on earth."

Senator Cummins smiled.

"How many of us," he went on, "are like the young Neweds at heart?"

"Young Mr. and Mrs. Neweds are in a dreadful predicament," a chap said at a club.

"Yes? How so?" said another chap.

"Why, you see, they paid so much for their going-away outfits that they can't go away."

Rents for $10,000,000.

Ten million dollars in rent from one building will be received by Capt. John Jacob Astor during the next 20 years, under the terms of a lease signed up last week in New York city. The property is the Hotel Astor and site, Broadway between Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth streets. The block is part of the old Eden estate, which originally sold for $34,000.

Who Knows?

A Manhattan dealer in whale meat explains that "the stuff tastes like a beefsteak cooked in clam broth and sugared." Now what does a beefsteak cooked in clam broth and sugared taste like?

Airplane Evident.

"We should keep up our airship department," thinks a punning correspondent, "because our masculine aviation stars will prove menaces to unfriendly governments."—Boston Transcript.
